requirements:

no equipment required

Installation and deinstallation have required turning the furniture around and laying it flat. The panels been permanently installed from the underneath and the seat has been installed with screws, they have not been connected to each other.

Now, only one person is required for the installation. The panels are connected together by the special connectors permanently mount to the seat, the backrest and the panels. The panels are simply to be pushed together and pressed. Additional reinforcement is provided by the connectors on the edges of the panels, which join them together and ensure the stability of the structure and reduce the risk of any slits between the components.
